DOCTOR FILLMAN WAS a great collector of specimens. Any one going into his office would be surprised to see the innumerable specimens of different kinds of grass, leaves, etc. One morning, as stopped him and inquired which way he was going. 'I am only going into the country a short distance,' was the reply. 'Are you going anywhere near Mr. Tower's house?' Yes, sir, I am going right by it.' 'Well, then, when you get there will you step over into his lot and cut me some slips from the willow trees I saw there the other day?' Upon receiving an affirmative answer the doctor left Mr Brown to pursue his ride. Mr Brown cut the specimens according to promise, and upon return-ing, finding the doctor in his office, laid the twigs upon the table before him. The doctor immediately commenced sorting the specimens, and after he had finished this operation, he said-'Mr, Brown, see the different kinds of willow Come nearer and I will show you how to distinguish them. Mr Bown diew his chair up nearer the table and the doctor attempted to explain to him the difference in the will we. When he had heard the explanation, he said: 'I don't see how there can be any difference n those specimens. 'Why not?' asked the doctor. 'Because I got them all off one tree.'

Among the emigrants to California, in the year 1849, was a worthy son of Fatherland, whom we chall designate as Hans Sneifer. On a certain occasion, Hans, being tired of the deily routine of bog and hard bread, had resolved to obtain some more savory yiand, and, taking a rifle, started out in search of same. He had proceeded but a few miles on the trail, when he expied a band of but falces grazing in the distance. Excited by the prospect of a good dinner, he pushed rapidly forward, when he suddenly discovered a band of Pawness, evidently bent on the same purpose with himsell. Now, Hans had heard dreadful stories of massacre and scalping by the merciless savages, and was, or heard deadful stories of massacie and scalping by the merciless savages, and was, or course brought to a momentary standshill. But, for fear that we may be accused of embellishment, we will let Hans 'ell his unstandshill, we fill his see the redshkirs, I thought I would shop a little and see what dey makes dere all de vie. So I ship I and peopt out behind some sthones, and dere dey was, achneaking along, shoost life wolfs. peept out behind some sthones, and dere dey vos, sohneaking along, shoost life wolks. Aha! ticks I, ven you don't see me, den I goes back again. So I schtarts down the hill, and valks pooty blamept fast, and got back mo t to de trail, ven I look arcundt, and dere dey coomest shoost like a tousand tiyfels, so dan I walked a little faster, and den looks aroundt again, and sli de logens was pooty closhe; den I walks again, and looks toundt, and dey was closher still. So I tinks, Hans, you've got in a blambi schrape, and I walked along, tilking, and by meby I got so tam med I run shoost same like a tog."

A steamboot Captain on the lakes was recently feeling his way along in the dark, when the lookout ahead sang out- Schooner without a light!' It was a close shave, and as the steamer passed the schooner the Captain sung out; What the bloody blazes are you doing with your infernal schooner here dismay, the skipper, who was a Frenchman, answered; 'Vat Zo diable you do here viz your ole steamboat in tree feet of vater, eh?' and just then the steamer landed high and dry on a sand bank. in the dark, without a light?" A LADY'S ENDORSEMENT.

A LANK'S EMPURISCENTER'S A Considered of the most refined and fashnorble society in the city of New York, speaks of Murray & Lanka's Floring Warre in the following highly complimentary minner, viz; "It has a fragrance as fresh as the odor from blooming flowers, and Imparts to the bath a delight" buyyancy. ODD, BUT AMIABLE .- Mr. Wilson, of Romford, England, was a most eccentric character. He was a great proficient in psalmody, and on a Sunday, before the service began, he used to amuse himself and the congregation with singing pealms by himself until the minister came to church. On the last fast-day, while all the congregation were taking refreshment between the morning and evening service, he rever quitted the church, but repeated the Lord's Prayer and sang appropriate psalms from pow to pew. Mr. Wilson wrs very singular in his mode of taking meals. He used to take a shoulder of lamb in his band, a quantity of salt in the bend of his arm in which he carried the joint, and with a small loaf and a large knife would sally through the town, and never return till he had eaten the whole of his provision. He was the most corpulent man in Romford, so perhaps he took his meals in his peripatetic fashion for sanitary reasons. As a penman he was unrivalled. His bills were exquisitely written, but whimsical to a degree. The top line perhaps, German text, the second print; 'beef' in one hand, 'mutton' in another, 'lamb' in another, and all written in various colors. But apart from his singularia ties, be deserves to be remembered as a most upright and amiable man. AT a pror and agentre in Ireland where At a province it mestre in Ireland where Macready of cersonaling 'Viginius,' in preparing a in which the body of Dentatus' is trought on the stage, the manager called to Pat, his property man, for the bier. Pat being of a 'heavy' temperament responded to the call by saying that he would fetch it 'immediately.' Pat next made his appearance with a full foaming pot of the right sort, and was received with a thousand and one cu as for his stupidity. 'The bier, you blookhead!' thundered the menager. 'And isn't it here?' exclaimed Pat, presenting the jug. 'Not that, you jickass! I mean the currow for dered the menager. 'And isn't it here?' exclaimed Pat, presenting the jug 'Not that, you jickass! I mean the varrow for 'Dentatus.'' 'Then why dou't you cal things by their right name?' muttered Pat. 'Who would suppose you meant the barrow when you called for beer.'

Chatting at Wischaden about the young fellow who was to become his son-in-law, the old man praised him very highly. I don't know that he has but one sault—be does not know how to play. Do you call this a fault? It seems to me a virtue? 'Ab, well he does not know how to play, but he well, he does not know how to play, but he plays just the same !'

J. FRIED,

Work for the People. It is highly probable that, in consequence of the lamentable accident which has befallen His Excellency the Governor, the Legislative Council will not be called together before the beginning of the year. This delay in convening the Legislature affords no good reason, however, for inaction on the part of the people. They have a great work to do, and there will not be a day too many in which to do it. Indeed, the important work of deciding upon the terms which it may be thought desirable to ask upon entering the Dominion cannot, with any degree of safety, be longer postponed. The people of Victoria, constituting as they do, the largest and most organized community, are nature. ally expected to take the lead. This community should, therefore, set about the work at once, and adopt a broad colonial programme upon which all, in whatever section, can readily and heartily unite. It would, indeed, appear to be unnecessary for us to point out what ought to comprise the principal features ought to comprise the principal feature of such a programme, seeing they have been constantly kept before the public during the many weeks; yet a bare enumeration of them may not be out of place: Responsible Government; ear'y construction of an overland railway; a liberal subsidy for an ocean mail service, and for an improved inland mail service; a liberal subsidy for the support of the Provincial Government; power to the Provincial Legislature to establish a Free Port; the largest representation in the Federal Cabinet and Parliament that may be compatible with the general interests of the Do-minion, and with justice to the different parts thereof. Such may be regarded as constituting the chief articles of the political faith : the eclonists; and surely they are of sufficient importance to command the attention of all. Hitherto this community has been chiefly remarkable for the absence of unanimity. Politically it has been divided, hashed up into so many parts as to be likened unto the fabled bundle of be likened unto the lattice builded of sticks. Whatever difference of opinion may have existed or may still exist as to the desirability of Confederation, considered in the abstract, all have now c me to regard it as inevitable; and all have a common interest in securing for the Colony the best terms that can be had. Let this common interest bind firmly together the bundle of sticks, and thus attain a strength, a power of resistance which will set at defiance any and every attempt to thrust Confederation upon us, unless accompanied by such terms as will render the change acceptible and beneficial. We only repeat what has been many times stated in these columns when we asgert that a large majority of the colonists are in favor of Confederation provided it can be obtained upon fair and beneficial terms; and that there are very few indeed who would not oppose that change if it did not bring with it a representative form of government, and other material benefits to which the people conceive themselves to be enti-tled. In the whole history of this Colony there has probably never been a more important and favorable opportunity presented for the people to avert evil and secure go d. There is every reason to believe that if they avail them. selves of this opportunity in proper time and manuer Confederation will prove a great boon; but it appears equally probable taht if the present opportunity be not improved that inevitable change may come to us in a torm which will render it neither acceptable nor benefi-Who shall move first? Those who have taken an active part in favour of Confederation hitherto manifest a disposition to stand alcof now, and allow others to step forward and act. Nor is this to be wordered at. In urging the colonists to er deavor to secure the best possible terms, under a change which was regarded as inevitable, these peo-ple have been misrepresented, and their motives empired and -They have been pointed at as more "place-hunters," who were willing to betray the country for a share of the "loaves and fishes." Now that the inevitability and imminence of the change can no longer be questioned it is not us natural that those who have been so long and so unjustly persecuted and misjudged should evince a disposition to stand aloof and throw the respon-sibility upon their false accusers. On the other hand, those who have all along opposed Confederation, but who now recognising its inevitability, realize the importance of securing the best possible terms, show a disposition to stand still and place the onus of action upon Cod-federationists. For the benefit of both parties we respectfully, and without any desire to offend, submit the following anecdote, the application of which we leave in the hands of the reader : .! fishmonger, who was known to be an inveterate swearer, was often teased by the boys as he went from house to house purating his bawful calling. On one occasion he was ascending a hill with his cart full of fish, when some waggish youngsters slyly took out the tailboard of his eart, and all his load slid into the mud. When he beheld

Arrival of the George S. Wright.

The steamship G S Wright, Capt Rogers, arrived from Portland and Puget Sound at 31/2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, bringing Wilson's Great Circus, comprising a full freight. The Wright left Portland on Saturday, crossed the bar the following morning, and steamed along rapidly until 12 o'cleck on last Sunday night, when a southeast gale of unexpected violence struck and tossed the staunch boat about like a cookle-shell, continuing for 24 hours. The seas were appalling and wash clean over the bulwarks, carrying away five of Wilson's valuable horses, altof which were lost, inflicting a serious lightly apon the owner. The steamer was hove-to until daylight until the violence of the gale had somewhat abated. The passengers speak in terms of warm praise of crossed the bar the following morning. of the gale had somewhat abated. The passengers speak in terms of warm praise of Capt Rogers and his first officer, Mr Taylor. Their conduct during the trying period was about commendable and sammulike. The wind horses were lost——I haw wild-reported horse 'General, Madamoiselle Zoyara's favorite; the mare 'Becky,' the invortier rising animal of young Ducrow; and the horse 'George,' brought from Arabia by Mr Wilson, on his return trip from India.

THE GREAT GIFT ENTERTAINMENT .- The enterlainment last evening was an unqualified success. The house was crowded, and Professor Morey never displayed greater dexterity with his simble d gits. After the performance came the prizes. One hundred numbers had been given out at the door, each of which called for a prize. Among the articles were mouse-traps; fryingpans, sardines, sarsaparilla, antibilities pills, lamps, bottle claret, sack of flour, sack of potatoes, bunch of carrots, toys, pair of boots, bunch of celery, box of blacking, blacking bru hes, package of soap, silver tea service, a live pig, a live goose, a hoe, a pair of pants, a $20 piece, and a number of other articles. The first prize, a silver trasservice, valued at $35, was won by Mrs. Pidwell, who held 52; the $20 piece by Mr R E Jackson, who had previously given the number fled success. The house was crowded, and valued at 533, was won by Mrs. Pidwell, who held 52; the $20 piece by Mr R E Jackson, who had previously given the namber (20) to a lad. Willis Bond got the goose—Mr R Wolfenden he pig—a ludy, the pants, G Keyser the sack of flour. Mr Drummond a musical toy. Mr Nesbitt, the sack of potatoes; Mr Judson Young, a leg of motton; a lame man a walking stick; Mr Finlayson, a tamborine; a confirmed backelor a cradle, etc, etc. The drawing of the prezes created much merriment. Messrs Good and Berkeley assisted the Professor at the delivery of the prezes. The pecuniary result of the becefit reaped by the Christ Church Building Fand was very substantial, and the thanks of the congregation and the community areduct the Professor for his liberality.

THE WORLD CIRCUS .- WILSON'S renowned circus arrived yesterday by the GS Wright; and, although severa! valuable horses were lost at sea, it is still by far the most attrac-tive and complete circus that has rivited this city. The lions appear to be none the worse city. The lions appear to be none the worse for the fearful tossing they experienced outside, and all, both man and beart, will be in excellent trim for performing this evening. The cauvas was stretched and everything put in readiness for giving a performance last evening; but upon learning that there was to be a beneficial performance at the was to be a beneficial performance at the Theatre for the restration of Christ Church, in: Wilson at once decided not t divide public strention and patronage. This was certainly very generous, and will, doubless, ultimately redound to his good.

TARIFF REDUCED .- The Western Union Telegraph Company has reduced its tariff on private messages to and from this place, For ten words to San Francisco the charge is now $2 50; each addition! five words, $1 60. Ten words to Portland $1; each additional five words 50 cents. The reduction is nearly 40 per cent all round.

DREDGER SALE POSTPUNED .- The sale of the dredger, punts and steam yacht has been postponed until Thursday 18.h November, in consequence of the non-arrival of the Active from San Francisco. Vigorous competition is expected.

the ground, etc.

The tunical which had been commenced before we went to work, followed a seam running North and South, purching kast into the hil at a dip of about one foot in three for the first thirty-seven feet, increusing to one foot in three for the first thirty-seven feet, increusing to one foot in two sites words. We confitued to follow the seam, the twenty four feet further, oaking in all a distance of sixty-one feet of a tunine, say teet high a nan-iour rest wide.

We did not find any copp r ore in the seam, which was composed of spar and quartz, slightly impregnated with copper and mundic; but from the commencement of the tunnet to where we left off, five seam of about two inclose in width each, running into the bidl, joil, and the seam we were working or, horizontally. One of these we tracked a cistance of eight feet to the right by driving in that direction. All these reams contain quantities of capper ore of good quantity, which would, in our joinion, assay from twenty-five to their per cet. During the last tim or twelve need of blasting in the tunion, which is a highly havonable indication. From the appearance he indication point which we rest of the last time of the last time of well as the consequently instituted a series of explorations, the result of which was the discovery of a quarta scan about fifty left back, which, running in a similar direction, pitches down at a dip of near y lout feet in six feet. The average wish is about seven to eight inches and it has all the appearance of being a mini lode. We traced it along the surface for a distance of one hundred and fifty feet. Our opinion is that the seam upon which we have been tunneling, and all the said to ease means entiring the slong the surface for a distance of one hundred and fifty cet. Our opinion is that the seam upon which we have seen tunneling, and all the stall er ones met during the work run i on this seam now discovered, and that by Iriving or sinking on it you would discover a good Coper lode of rich ore. We world, in conclusion, recommend y u, instead of continuing to sink on the present seam, to run a level from it into the seam or lode now hiscovere' which we think would be reached in about hirty feet from the end of the present tunnel.

THE PERFECTION OF PREPARED COCOA

MARAVILLA COCOA. SOLE PROPRIETORS. TAYLOR BROTHERS LONDON.

NASE COCOA (OR CACAD) OF MARAVILLA is the true TIEOGROMA LINNÆUS Cocoa is indigenous to South America, of which Maravilla is a favored portion. TAYLOR BROTHERS haying secured the exclusive analysis of this unrivalled Cocoa, harpe, by the skilful at prication of their soluble principle and claborate machinery, produced what is so undentably the perfection of prepared Geora, that it has not only secured the preference of homospaths and cocoa-drinkers generally, but many who had bitherto not found any preparation to suit them, have after one trial, adopted the Maravilla Cocoa as their constant beverage for breakfast, lunchon, &c.

"AN UNPRECEDENTED SUCCESS." See following Extract from the Globe of May 14,1868.

May 14, 1898.

"Various importers and manufacturershare attempted to attain a reputation for their prepared Coccas, but we doubt whether any thorough success had been achieved until Messrs Taylor Brothers discovered the extraordinary qualities of "Marayilla" Cocca.

Adapting their perfect system of preparation to this the finest of all species of the Theobroma, they have preduced an article which supersedes every other Cocca is the market. Entire solublity, a delicate aroma and a rare concentration of the purset elements of nutrition, distinguish the Marayilla Cocca above all others For Homospaths and invalids we could not recommend a more agreeable or valuable boverage."

Sold in packets only by all Grocers, of whom also may be had Taylor Brothers' Original Homepathic Cocoa and Soluble Chocalars. Steam Mills—Brick Lane, London. my7

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair. hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follieles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sedi-ment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambrie, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.
